As a member of the Lexington Rotary Club, Robert has served as sergeant-at-arms and secretary. He is a two-term Board member and was elected president for 2003-04. Robert currently chairs the club's Humanitarian Award committee.

Robert is a member of the Lexington law firm Fowler Measle & Bell, practicing with its commercial, real estate, home owner associations and alternative dispute resolution groups. Prior to joining Fowler, he practiced law for five years in North Carolina.

Robert has served on the Rotary District 6740 Leadership Academy Board of Regents. He is a mentor to DLA students and has served on the DLA faculty for three years. He has also served as Assistant District Governor.

Robert is an active member of the Ohio Northern University National Law Alumni Board (president), and as a lifetime member of the UK alumni Association, he is an avid UK sports fan. Robert is involved in many civic and charitable activities in the Lexington area.

Robert and his wife Patty, who have two grown children, attend Christ the King Church in Lexington and reside in northern Madison County.
